emergency room. Grandfather advised officers that he heard knocking at his door and he went to check on it. Grandfather advised officers that he looked outside of the door and observed an unfamiliar vehicle running in the parking lot but did not notice any suspicious individuals. Grandfather advised officers that he then backed up to get out of the doorway and fell backwards. It should be noted that grandfather did not believe that anyone had tried to break into his residence.

After speaking with grandfather, Officers spoke with female relative. Female advised officers that grandfather has fallen several times in the past and usually contacts his grandson for assistance. Female advised officers that grandfather contacted his grandson for assistance after falling which prompted his grandson to contact her and her husband to advise them of the situation. Female advised officers that upon leaving their residence they observed a steel man door to their garage had been damaged. Female was unable to advise an approximate time frame that the door was damaged as she does not use that particular door. Female advised the door leading to the residence from the garage did not appear to be damaged, indicating the residence had not been entered because she usually keeps that door locked. Female stated that she would contact her husband to get a time frame that the steel man door had been damaged, as he uses that door daily. Female advised officers that she would have her husband contact the Oberlin Police Department in reference to this incident.

After speaking with female, the reporting officer spoke with complainant at Gibson's bakery. Complainant showed the reporting officer a picture of the damaged door frame at Hawthorne Drive. Complainant advised the reporting officer that his residence at West College Street appeared normal.
